Breaking Through

AN EDITORIAL

The truth about the Mundt "police state" bill is beginning to break through the conspiracy of silence.

Horror, incredulity — and anger — are expressed by more and more Americans as they discover the truth about the Un-American conspiracy to start America down the Nazi road by first outlawing the Communist Party.

No nation that has outlawed the Communist Party has remained democratic.

The protest movement is making itself felt. President Truman's implied opposition to the Mundt bill is proof of that. The danger, however, is still very great. The House votes Tuesday on the bill. Only if the present protest movement rises to new heights without delay will this infamy be halted in Congress. Act now! Wire your Congressman and Senator!

Clark Says House Un-Americans Stole FBI File

WASHINGTON, May 13 (UP).—Attorney General Tom C. Clark today bluntly accused the House Un-American Activities Committee of "stealing" parts of an FBI loyalty report on Dr. E. U. Condon, noted scientist. His charge heaped new fuel on the bitter election-year dispute between President Truman and the Republican-controlled Congress over the sanctity of Administration secrets. The House meanwhile fired a new blast of its own by defying a veto threat and passing a bill under which high Administration officials could be jailed for withholding confidential information, such as the Condon report, from Congress. Truman had told a news conference only a few hours earlier that he would veto the bill if it reached the White House. But the Senate which now gets the measure may save him the trouble by killing it. The measure would compel certain federal agencies to surrender documents demanded by congressional committees. Officials who refused would be liable to one year in jail and $1,000 fine.

Truman States Opposition To Ban on CP

By Rob F. Hall

WASHINGTON, May 13.—With debate on the Mundt-Nixon police state bill beginning tomorrow, the fight against the measure today reached its highest level since HR 5852 was introduced.

President Truman, in a statement which was interpreted as aimed at the Mundt bill, condemned legislation to outlaw any political party. He said the nation already has laws dealing with conspiracy to overthrow the government.

While 1,500 delegates from New York and four other states lobbied their Congressmen against the bill, petitions containing a million signatures demanding the legislation's defeat were handed to Speaker of the House Joseph Martin (R-Mass).

Rep. Vito Marcantonio (ALP-NY) leader of the opposition to the Un-American Committee bill, won an agreement from House leaders to postpone the vote until Tuesday morning.

Len Goldsmith, executive secretary of the Committee for Democratic Action, which sponsored today's big lobby, said the postponement would give progressive forces precious time in which to organize week-end meetings with their Congressmen and to mobilize for thousands of telegrams to Congressmen still on the fence.

TRUMAN'S STATEMENT

Truman's announcement came at his news conference. Asked to state his attitude on the Mundt-Nixon bill, the President said he never comments on pending legislation. But, he added, he could say that any bill designed to outlaw any political party was entirely contrary to our principles. He said we have splinter parties in this country but they do no harm. If it is a question of a conspiracy to overthrow our government, Truman continued, there are already laws to cover that.

According to informed sources, the President prepared in advance of this question, following discussion with his advisers. These sources said that Truman had received from Attorney General Tom Clark an opinion that the bill was "completely unconstitutional."

The Mundt bill had been scheduled to reach the floor of the House this afternoon, and the galleries were crowded. But the schedule ran into difficulties when numerous amendments were offered to the Hoffman bill to force the executive departments to hand over documents to Congress committees.

AGREE TO DELAY

At 4:30, reporters noted a huddle in the center aisle. Their heads together, Marcantonio conferred with Speaker Martin, Rep. John

Clergymen Call on Truman To Keep Peace Hope Alive

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Three leading Presbyterian ministers called on President Truman today and urged him to "keep alive the ray of hope" presented by the U. S.-Soviet exchange of notes. The President, however, rebuffed the clergymen's request, repeating to them his opposition to peace talks with the Soviets. The clergymen, representing the Presbyterian Church's Department of Social Education and Action, were the Rev. Phillips Packer Elliott of the First Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn, N. Y.; the Rev. Edwin O. Kennedy of the First Presbyterian Church of Englewood, N. J.; and the Rev. Edward W. Stimson of the Knox Presbyterian Church of Cincinnati.

Secretary of State Marshall was urged yesterday to "welcome and pursue the suggestions for a meeting with representatives of the Soviet Government to bring an end to the cold war and open the door wide to world peace and prosperity" in a telegram from Arthur Osman, chairman of the New York Trade Union Committee for Wallace and Taylor.

Mundt Bill Protests Mount

A strong plea for the defeat of the Mundt police-state bill was made yesterday by nearly 30 labor leaders, educators, writers, lawyers and religious leaders in a letter released by the American Civil Liberties Union. Addressed to all members of the House of Representatives, the letter declared the Bill was "un-American" and clearly "unconstitutional."

Among the signers were Stanley High, writer; Prof. Arthur N. Holcombe of Harvard University; Rabbi Morris S. Lazaron of Baltimore; Christopher Morley, author, and Frank R. Crosswaite, AFL leader.

Another group of writers, artists, scientists, educators and musicians also condemned the un-American Committee's attempts to "destroy our democratic institutions," in a statement released by the New York State Council of Arts, Sciences and Professions.

Among the signers were Harlow Shapley, director of Harvard Observatories; Joan Sloan, artist; Alfred Kreyenborg, poet; Prof. Walter Rautenstrauch of Columbia University; Prof. Henry Pratt Fairchild of New York University and Arnaud d'Usseau, playwright.

Assemblyman Samuel Roman of Washington Heights joined the group of 12 Brooklyn legislators who condemned the bill.

"I am a Republican," said Roman in a wire to House Speaker Joseph Martin and his Congressman, J. K. Javits, "but it matters not to me what my neighbor's political affiliation may be. He has a right to differ and to oppose me and my party, and I as his legislator have the duty under my oath of office to protect him in his opposition if he be a Communist, no less than if he be a Democrat or a member of any other political party."

Samuel Wolchok, international president of the CIO Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union, announced his opposition.

Telegrams were sent to Washington by the executive board of the Direct Mail Division of Local 16 of the CIO Office Workers.

Mob at Steel Union Parley Slugs Critics of Pay Policy

By George Morris

BOSTON, May 13.—Nick Migas, delegate of Inland Steel Local 1010, Indiana Harbor, was today set upon and brutally beaten by pro-administration forces outside the convention hall of the United Steel Workers a few minutes after he criticized the union's policy in the recent ill-fated wage negotiations.

He was beaten as hundreds of delegates followed him out of Mechanics Hall, while the convention was still in session.

The mob action against Migas followed action on a crucial wage policy resolution during which President Philip Murray and Chicago-Indiana Regional Director Joseph Germano whipped the delegates to a new high of anti-Communist frenzy in this convention.

The previous high came this morning, in an hour-long speech by Murray in which he called Communists "strikebreakers" and agents of corporations.

ISSUES LEAFLET

With the possibility of a real discussion out of the question in the midst of the red-baiting spree that the convention was turned into, Migas this morning set forth his view on the wage issue in a mimeographed statement.

He denounced the policy of signing two-year no-strike contracts and said it stemmed from the leadership's policy of opposition to the third party and support of the Marshall Plan.

"This is how our leadership proved its good faith and its confidence in the company's good faith. Only the good faith of the rank and file was forgotten.

"And for all this the payoff wasn't even a wooden nickel pay raise. We got taken in; we got speed up; we got a weakened union; we got laughed at. We pleased the company and hurt ourselves.

"Never again! Never again!

must our union be made a laughing stock! Never again must we be taken into camp by the wily steel trust and a gullible leader-

Truman Again Rejects Soviet Peace Talks

WASHINGTON, May 13.—President Truman today reiterated his opposition to peace talks with the Soviet Union, declaring that the events of the week have not raised his hopes for peace.

At a press conference, the President stated that he was in complete agreement with Secretary of State Marshall's summary rejection of the Soviet offer for talks. Under questioning, Truman said that Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin could come to the U. S. to talk things over if he wished, adding that his previous invitation still stood. The President was referring to an off-hand remark made at a previous press conference and not to any formal invitation.

He said he had not heard from Stalin and did not expect to.

Some Republican members of the House spoke up against what they termed the Administration's refusal to talk peace with Russia.

House Republican whip Leslie C. Arends of Illinois said "the least we can do" would be to accept the peace conference suggestion.

Chairman Leo E. Allen (R-Ill), of the House Rules Committee, said Truman's "puzzling efforts to shut off the chance for talks certainly are not enhancing the opportunities for peace."

Rep. Lawrence W. Smith (R-Wis), a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said that Truman was "slamming the door" in Russia's face.

The President admitted at the press conference that every part of the statement made by Smith to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was discussed in advance with the Cabinet and Marshall. He said that so far as he knew, Smith had followed his instructions to the letter.

ACW Parley Assails Press Warmongering

By Harry Raymond

ATLANTIC CITY, May 13.—Talk of war in American newspaper headlines was declared today by 1,250 delegates to the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers convention to "have diverted attention from the overwhelming need of our age."

The "need of our age," according to a unanimous foreign policy resolution, is for the people and the nation "to exhaust every resource to secure and preserve peace."

The convention resolution rejected "the idea of the inevitability of war," and deplored unilateral action in world affairs by any nation. This type of action "can but weaken the UN," the resolution states, and adds:

"The great nations must earnestly try to settle their differences without resorting to stand-pat positions or threats."

Renewing its support of the Marshall Plan, the union, however, demanded that ERP be administered with "full recognition of the democratic rights of the participating nations to determine their own economic institutions—and with fullest encouragement to the development of the democratic forces within each nation."

The convention warned, would "tend to instill fear among the nations of the world." Peacetime military training or

The delegates voted to oppose the draft and compulsory training bills.

An ovation greeted an address by Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida. Pepper announced his opposition to the Mundt police-state bill.

"Before we can save democracy in the world," Pepper declared, "we have got to be sure that we practice democracy in America."

Pepper declared his opposition to a clause in the new Army bill before Congress which would OK Jim Crow practices. He qualified the statement later in an interview, saying Congress should leave the matter entirely to the military commanders.

It was called to Pepper's attention that like practically every speaker, he had failed to mention Truman. Asked if he favored Truman as the Democratic nominee, he said: "I'm for the best man."

The convention, too, was having difficulty finding "the best man." It bypassed Henry Wallace and the Third Party in a special resolution, and called for strict adherence to the line of the CIO Political Action

TEL AVIV, Palestine, May 13 (UP).—A five-man Jewish cabinet committee drafted a declaration today proclaiming a sovereign Jewish state. Commander in chief Israel Galilee, preparing for war, cancelled leaves of Haganah militiamen, who will become the Jewish Army, put reserves on an emergency alert and prepared to draft thousands of expected refugees into the military forces. As the zero hour approached dispatches from Arab capitals said that armies of Arab League were ready to march into Arab areas of Palestine and possibly into Jewish areas.

U. S. ASKS DELAY

Moshe Shertok, Foreign Minister-designate of the Jewish Government announced today that the United States had asked the Jewish Agency to delay the establishment of a Jewish state until a later date.

Asked whether the Agency would delay the declaration of an independent, sovereign Jewish state, scheduled for midnight tomorrow, Shertok said:

"There is an iron certainty we will not leave a vacuum here even for one second."

This, he indicated, meant that unless the United Nations provide some authority to take over when the British mandate ends tomorrow night, the Jewish state would be proclaimed.

Shertok said that the United States delegation at Lake Success, N. Y., had asked the Jewish Agency to "arrest the process" of declaring a Jewish state in the hope that the political and military situation could be "straightened out."

The Arab emergency committee in Jaffa invited Haganah to occupy that Arab city, adjoining Tel Aviv.

Final preparations for the declaration of a Jewish state, which probably will be called the "state of Israel," were made in the Sarona suburb of Tel Aviv which is to be the capital.

REJECT U.S. DEMAND

Rejecting a reported American demand to postpone their action, the full 13-man Jewish cabinet decided at a nine-hour meeting ending early Thursday morning to proclaim the Jewish state at midnight tomorrow.

Chief rabbis who were consulted gave the cabinet exemption from orthodox Jewish religious law which would forbid the signing or proclamation of a declaration on Saturday, the sabbath.

Moshe Shertok, Foreign Minister elect; David Remez, Felix Rosenbluth, R. Sizing and Moshe Shapiro were named as the committee to draft the declaration of independence.

Asked whether the United States was likely to take a serious view of the proclamation of a Jewish state, a member of the cabinet said to me:

"The front is here in Palestine. It is here our fate will be decided."

U. S. Steamrollers Plan Against Zion

By Joseph Starobin

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 13.—The UN Special Assembly, under the American whiplash, was being rushed to establish a "dual power" that may imperil the emerging Jewish State in Palestine.

With less than 24 hours left before a provisional government of the Jewish state is established in Tel Aviv, the State Department's scheme for a United Nations mediator was being steam-rolled through the Assembly's political committee.

A full session of the Assembly was called by President Jose Arce of Argentina for Friday morning to ratify what is expected to come out of the political committee, despite a strong resistance by Slav delegates and some Latin American adherents of partition.

The Jewish Agency today defied the American mediator plan, saying the "Jewish state as contemplated in the Nov. 29, 1947 resolution is a reality. Accordingly, the Jewish Agency for Palestine cannot become an accessory to any program the effect of which may be to belittle the legal title of that state, to abridge its sovereignty, to reduce its territory, or defer its independence."

It is expected here that a provisional government of the Jewish state will be established Friday night. Thus, the United Nations is being put in the position, by the latest American plan, of establishing a "dual power" in Palestine. This will undoubtedly give the Jews trouble in the next months on top of the expected invasion by the Arab League states.

The American choice for the proposed mediator is said to be Count Folke-Bernadotte of Sweden, who is married into the family of the Manville asbestos trust.

Under the U. S. plan, which is less than the original trusteeship idea but is still enough to contest the legality of the Jewish state, the mediator would be chosen by a committee of the Big Five and act under the supervision of the Security Council.

His functions would be to mediate among local and community authorities in Palestine, arrange for operation of common services, protect the holy places, and "promote the future government of Palestine."

In addition, the American reso-

Council Body Attacks Davis, Shields Quinn

In an action unprecedented in City Council history, the Rules Committee yesterday voted to condemn Communist Councilman Benjamin J. Davis for introducing a resolution which would have set up a Council-manic committee to probe Queens Democrats Hugh Quinn for his charges of alleged arson against City College students and his effort to link a dormitory fire with Communists.

There has never been an instance when a Council committee stigmatized any of its members for proposing legislation.

The issue arose out of charges by Quinn that the fire at Army Hall in City College had been started by so-called "red" students, and Quinn named three students as ring-leaders, Max Sapatkin, Leonard Schwartz, and Bob Stephenson.

Quinn said he got his information from Stephenson's mother, but it turned out that Stephenson's mother died some years ago.

The students Zapatkin and Schwartz were present at the hearing yesterday.

The committee, headed by Walter R. Hart (Brooklyn Democrat), went so far as to imply commendation of Quinn.

Davis called the committee's action "fascist" and charged it was attempting "to prevent bills with which it disagreed." Later he said, "I consider it not accidental that the only time the Committee has condemned a Councilman it has condemned a Negro member of the Council."

Brooklyn Liberal Party Councilman Louis P. Goldberg was among those who voted to condemn Davis.

The two students at the hearing promised to go back to the City College campus and ask for student protests.

Wallace Hails Polo Grounds Palestine Rally

The Salute to the Jewish State at the Polo Grounds tomorrow (Saturday) night will "celebrate the righting of one of the greatest wrongs of all time," Henry Wallace declared yesterday. In a message to the American Committee of Jewish Writers, Artists and Scientists, sponsors of the rally, the third party candidate for President expressed regrets that he will not be in New York for the Polo Grounds meeting.

Wallace reiterated his proposal that the United States "be the first—the very first—to recognize the new state" in Palestine.

Speakers at the Polo Grounds Salute will include: Bartley Crum, national chairman of Americans for Haganah; Senators Elbert D. Thomas of Utah and Glen H. Taylor of Idaho; New York Congressmen Emanuel Celler and Leo Isacson; Sholem Asch, Arthur Miller, Albert E. Kahn, B. Z. Goldberg, president of the American Committee; Arthur Osman, and Jakov Rittin of Tel Aviv, member of the General Council of the World Zionist Organization and executive member of the Jewish Military Defense Council in Palestine. Participating artists will include: Paul Robeson, Larry Adler and Mihail Kusevitsky.

Michigan Officials Move To Break Chrysler Strike

By William Allan

DETROIT, Mich., May 13.—A Republican cabal of Gov. Kim Sigler, Wayne County prosecutor James McNally, Detroit police commissioner Harry S. Toy and State Attorney General Eugene Black today moved in strikebreaking fashion against the 75,000 Chrysler strikers.

Black declared the strike is a clearcut violation of state law. Sigler said he would intervene. Toy said to the union "let workers pay the gates or police will."

McNally said that union officers "instigating" the strike or pickets who engage in mass picketing would not be eligible for welfare aid.

It was also reported late today that summonses were issued for local union leaders for violation of the Bonize-Tripp state mediation law. Under this law, which the UAW refuses to recognize, a union must participate in a strike vote inside the plant conducted by the State Mediation Board.

Meanwhile, Police Commissioner

Toy had his "commando" police squad at the Plymouth plant this morning. They carried tear gas bombs hanging from their belts, sawed-off guns and riot clubs.

Today the union again reiterated that it will keep out office workers and other non-hourly personnel.

Toy declared "we are going to preserve peace and maintain order, entrances to the plants will be kept open. We will give police protection to anyone who desires to enter the plants."

UAW officials were reported meeting tonight on this set of moves against the union. With large squads of police at plants today, the local flying squadrons mobilized double picket lines around all gates.

Tenseness prevailed in the strike areas, as workers were told today in strike mass meeting that no negotiations are in prospect and that only a determined united strike will win for them.

WALLACE RAPS CORP.

Henry Wallace speaking tonight at the Olympia Stadium lashed out at the Chrysler Corp.'s refusal to grant the workers' demands on the grounds it want to fight inflation.

"The big business line that wage increases have caused inflation isn't going to be swallowed by workers. Between 1946 and 1947 all operating costs in the auto industry including wages and raw material increased less than five per cent, while prices increased 15 percent."

City Cancels Kids' Capital Trip Because of Jimcrow

The Board of Education and the American Automobile Association yesterday canceled their joint tour of Washington, arranged for 51 members of the city's School Safety Patrols, because of Jimcrow conditions in the nation's capital. The scheduled tour, which was to be held today, was arranged as a tribute to the children who are leaders in the school's safety traffic program, and was to commemorate School Safety Patrol Day proclaimed by Mayor O'Dwyer for tomorrow.

After learning that an unnamed Washington hotel had refused the use of its dining room for the Negro children in the tour, and that segregation policies would be imposed during visits of historic places in Washington, the Automobile Club and the Board of Education cancelled its reservations and substituted a local observance today for the 51 children.

JANSEN'S STATEMENT

William Jansen, Superintendent of Schools, said:

"Representative groups of children from the New York public schools naturally will include children of various races and creeds. We now have learned that it would not be possible in some instances for classmates to dine together in Washington and to visit public buildings there because their skins happen to be of a different color. We withdrew the participation of our public schools in this project.

"The AAA agrees wholeheartedly with the Board of Education in calling off the trip to Washington. I have been informed that the AAA is making arrangements to replace the Washington trip with a local program in keeping with our American tradition of respect for human rights."

The 51 Negro and white children will visit City Hall at 9:30 a.m. today, after which they will tour the police headquarters, attend a luncheon at the Hotel Pennsylvania, and watch a ball game at the Polo Grounds.

Bullitt Leaves For Formosa

SHANGHAI, China, May 13 (UP).—Former U. S. Ambassador William O. Bullitt left by plane today for Chinese-occupied Formosa after a series of secret conferences with T. V. Soong, governor of Kwantung Province, and Pei Tsu-Yi, head of the Chinese Aid Mission.

Informed sources suggested Bullitt talked about the possibility of American private capital investments in South China.

Set Bus Fare Rise Public Hearing May 25

By Michael Singer

The Board of Estimate yesterday set May 25, at 10:30 a.m. for public hearings on petitions by private bus companies in Manhattan, Bronx and Queens, seeking a higher fare. The Third Avenue Transit Corp. is also asking for a two-cent transfer charge, which is not provided for in its present franchise.

Though no specific fare increase is specified in their petitions, all but the Fifth Avenue Coach Corp. which now charges 10 cents a ride and is seeking a 2½-cent fare hike, are asking for a three-cent increase over their present five-cent fare.

With the exception of the Queens Bus Line, the private transit companies have agreements with the CIO Transport Workers Union to pay a 24-cent hourly wage increase when the fare is raised, retroactive to May 1. The Queens lines have contracts with the AFL Transit Union which has wage scales far below those paid by the Manhattan, Bronx lines under contract with the TWU.

FUNDS FOR YOUTH BOARD

The Board appropriated $300,000 to the New York City Youth Board for a summer program to combat juvenile delinquency. Nathan Kaplan, secretary of the Board of Education and chairman of the Youth Board said that the money will be used to launch a three-fold youth program to extend recreational services for children in "areas of greatest need."

The program includes setting up community organizations, citywide youth research program to ascertain what additional services are needed, to alleviate "conditions conducive to juvenile delinquency" and a joint program of private and city agencies for youth welfare in the community.

Special emphasis will be placed on providing services for teen ages, for whom Kaplan said, present facilities are extremely inadequate. The state will reimburse the city for 50 percent of the cost for this city youth board project.

Budget notes, not exceeding $440,289, were authorized by the Board of Estimate to liquidate a Board of Education deficit incurred during 1946-47 to operate the elementary school lunch program.

The Board adopted unanimously a one sentence item calling for appropriation of $25,000 to be contributed to "different war veteran organizations in the five boroughs" for memorial day services. This item raised eyebrows among some city hall observers in view of the fact that among those vet organizations are the Catholic War Veterans and the Veterans of Foreign Wars which intend to make the memorial day services an anti-Communist, anti-Soviet ceremony.

Some question was raised as to the propriety of the city contributing its own monies to private organizations for celebrations.

In a wire to all New York City Congressmen, stated that 40,000 members of the local opposed the measure.

DETROIT NEGRO MINISTERS

DETROIT, May 13.—Twenty-five Negro ministers issued a signed statement to all Michigan Congressmen charging that the Mundt police state bill threatens the rights of every Negro citizen in America.

Two hundred trade unionists from the Wayne County CIO Council meeting last night wired all Michigan Congressmen their vigorous opposition to the Bill.

A meeting of legal, civic, political, veteran and Negro leaders, addressed by Probate Judge Patrick H. O'Brien last night at the Fort Wayne Hotel, voted to send a delegation headed by Judge O'Brien to Washington to lobby against the bill.

UPSTATE AREA ACTIVE

SCHENECTADY, May 13.—Radio broadcasts, big newspaper ads, 10,000 postcards and circulars are features of the large-scale drive to let the people of the capital area know about the Mundt bill.

The campaign was initiated at a conference last week of some 75 ministers, civic and labor leaders, educators, lawyers and other professionals from 5 cities in the area.

Workers in the UE organized General Cable plant at Rome, N. Y., have sent thousands of postcards, letters and telegrams to their Representatives and Senators protesting the Mundt bill.

A Newark conference to defend civil rights has been called by the Civil Rights Congress for May 22 to mobilize action against the bill. On Friday, May 21, a meeting will be held here at the Yorkville Casino at which Rept. Vito Marcantonio (ALP-NY) will be the main speaker.

Other who have come out against the bill include the National Board of American Youth for Democracy, the Massachusetts Civil Liberties Union and the Book and Magazine Guild, Local 18, of the CIO United Office and Professional Workers.

INDIANA

INDIANAPOLIS, May 13.—Mounting opposition to the Mundt bill is growing here, with the Richmond County CIO Council unanimously opposed to it. Petitions are being circulated at CIO electrical plants here calling for pressure on local Congressmen. Workers in Chevrolet and Malleable auto plants are sending postcards.

In Lake County and in Evansville delegations organized by the Indiana Citizens for Wallace have arranged meetings with their congressmen. The local Marion County Committee for Wallace placed a paid ad in the Indianapolis Star exposing the vicious character of the measure.

Sentiment of the Negro people against the Mundt bill is reflected in a column in the Indianapolis Recorder which analyzes the bill and warns its readers of its sinister intent.

The Communist Party of Indianapolis sponsored a local radio broadcast at 5:30 p.m. today and distributed leaflets to the workers in the main plants of the city dealing with the Mundt bill.

The Committee for Democratic Rights announced it had called upon all Presidential aspirants to state their opposition to the Mundt bill. Telegrams were sent to President Truman, Sen. Taft, Gov. Dewey, former Gov. Stassen, Gov. Earl Warren, Speaker Joseph Martin, Sen. Vandenberg, Norman Thomas, Gen. MacArthur and Henry Wallace.

CHICAGO

CHICAGO, May 11.—The University of Chicago Student Assembly, on behalf of the student body, has gone on record opposing the Mundt bill.

Prominent persons who attacked the Mundt bill today were Dr. Maud Slye, cancer researchist at the University of Chicago; Prof. Anton Carlson, scientist; Paul Annes, president of the City Club; Noble Lee, dean, John Marshall Law School; Rabbi David Graubart; Rev. William Baird, Essex Community Church, and Milton Raynor, attorney.

Also opposing the measure were the Chicago Area Council of the AVC, and the Chicago Charitable Action Council, composed of leading Jewish businessmen.

CLEVELAND ILG

CLEVELAND, May 12.—The Joint Board of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union unanimously adopted a resolution opposing the Mundt bill.

Lodge 1108 of the International Association of Machinists also opposed the measure.

Plot Behind the Mundt Bill

By William Z. Foster

WITH unprecedented speed the reactionaries are trying to rush the Mundt Police State Bill through Congress. They plan to jam it through the House in the midst of the prevalent war hysteria, and they hope also to speed it shortly through the Senate.

The purpose of all this haste is to rush the infamous bill into law before the people can awaken to its sinister significance. Never in American history has there been such a bold, tricky and insolent assault against our basic freedoms.

For one thing, by all this legislative speed, the Mundt bill sponsors hope to be able to hide from the American people the fact that behind its glib talk of "regulating" the Communists the bill, if enacted into law and sustained by the courts, would actually outlaw the Communist Party. Their wish to obscure this fact is because there are vast masses of people in this country who are decidedly opposed to illegalizing our Party, for they realize that to do this would endanger the whole Bill of Rights.

They remember vividly how Hitler, Mussolini and other fascist dictators slaughtered freedom in their countries by first making the Communist Party illegal. It is to prevent these masses from waking up and going into action against the Mundt Bill, therefore, that it is being railroaded through Congress under the false pretense that it would not outlaw our Party.

A SECOND BASIC reason for the speed in trying to make the Mundt Police State bill the law of the land is to prevent trade unionists and members of other people's organizations from realizing that this bill, if enacted into law, would apply not only against Communists but would also disastrously hit other organizations. With the Communist Party illegalized, the reactionaries would systematically attack every important strike, every progressive political movement, every determined protest by the Negro people, every serious democratic campaign whatsoever, as the work of hidden, underground, plotting Communists.

To drive the Communist Party underground, therefore, and to create a conspiratorial atmosphere in this country, would greatly facilitate the attack of the red-baiters, reactionaries, and warmongers upon everything progressive and democratic in our country. This, in fact, is the major objective that Mundt, Rankin, & Company have in mind with their bill.

Even keener than this desire to cripple the Communist Party with the Mundt Bill is their determination to wreck the trade unions and other people's movements. And their strategy to do this is to make the Mundt bill into law swiftly, as a project applying only to the Communists, before the masses come to understand the deadly effect it would have upon them and their organizations. There is grave danger in organized labor's present inactivity regarding this menacing bill.

FURTHERMORE, the great haste of the reactionaries to railroad the Mundt Bill through Congress is also to keep the American people unaware of the dangerous fascist character of the bill. Ever since the end of the war the legislative, journalistic and ideological tools of Wall Street big capital have been busy building the foundation of fascism in this country.

This is the meaning of such measures as the President's loyalty oath for government employees, the Taft-Hartley slave labor law, the red-baiting campaign, etc. They are gradually constituting a police state in the United States.

Finally, the reactionaries are trying to throw dust in the eyes of the world's people by disguising the character of the Mundt bill. They are shouting to the world that they are the great defenders of democracy. But this claim which fits in every badly with the Mundt bill's proposals to outlaw the Communist Party. The peoples in Europe especially know the fascist significance of illegalizing the Communist Party. Hence, the effort to palm off the Mundt bill as a measure merely to "regulate" our Party.

THE MUNDT BILL, if it should become law, would be another important addition to the growing structure of fascism in our country. Indeed, it is the most sinister, fascist-type legislation that the reactionaries have yet ventured upon. And their scheme is to blast it through Congress without any real discussion and under the false pretense of being merely a measure mildly to regulate the Communists, so that its true fascist character will remain hidden until it is too late for the American people to defeat it.

The Mundt bill is a ghastly plot against American democracy. Its purpose is to cripple popular freedom, so that the monopolists can have a still freer hand in running this country as they see fit, and so that they may be able to catapult the nation into their contemplated imperialist war against the U.S.S.R.

It is all part of Wall Street's grandiose plan to grab control of the world, even if humanity in the meantime has to be plunged into a veritable sea of blood. The danger contained in the Mundt bill is vastly increased by the speed with which it is being rushed through Congress and by the cunning manner in which the true purposes of the bill are obscured by its hypocritical phraseology.

The fascist Mundt bill can be defeated. What is necessary is for the masses to rise in their wrath and smash it. But to do this they should realize its true significance. This requires quick educational work upon the part of all those who do not now know the deadly meaning of the bill. Every effort must be used to make the people aware of the true significance of the Mundt bill. And quickly, because the time for action is short.

The infamous plot of the Mundt bill backers must be defeated at all costs. They must not be allowed to shatter the Bill of Rights and to fasten this fascist yoke upon the necks of the American people. They must not be permitted to railroad the bill through Congress. The people should call a halt to this sinister assault against American democracy.

Nassau Demo Hits Party Acts

A Nassau County Democratic committeewoman insisted yesterday that all Democratic officials who support the bi-partisan policies of the Truman Administration resign their party posts on the grounds of "disloyalty."

The committeewoman, Anne G. Steinmann of Woodmere, is vice-chairman of the Wallace-for-President Committee of Nassau County. When asked to resign her Democratic committee post by County Democratic Chairman Carreau, she refused, on the grounds that the Democratic Party had not yet made its presidential nomination.

Carreau has announced he will set up a trial committee to try Mrs. Steinmann for "disloyalty."

PARTY DRIVE

Wins Members

YOU'VE HEARD it before. You'll hear it again. And there's still no way of beating the fact that the shortest distance to a new member for the Communist Party is a regular Worker route.

Take the case of the chairman of the La Pasionaria Club of New York County Communist Party: For the past months, he has carefully built up a Worker route of over 50 papers. He works this route . . . really works it. Instead of just leaving the paper at the door, he makes a regular practice of speaking to the people. Gets to know them . . . their families and their friends. Begins to talk and be consulted about all sorts of problems . . . from tenants' grievances to advice on schools, clinics, etc. Instead of being just a salesman . . . he becomes a real friend to these people. Today eight of these regular readers of the paper are now members of the Communist Party. More of them soon will be. In addition the Worker Route is growing rapidly too.

You'll hear plenty of stories like this at the Party and Press Building Conference tomorrow at Manhattan Center. See you there.

Lake Shippers Raiding U. S. Till

By Elmer O. Fehlhaber

CLEVELAND, O., May 13.—One of the most brazen attempts to dip into the public treasury for private gain has been launched by 12 Great Lakes Steamship companies.

Using the war hysteria as a cloak, the companies have requested the Federal Maritime Commission to grant them huge subsidies in order that they may rebuild old ships and construct new ones to the tune of $80,000,000.

All this is to be done in the name of "national defense."

Shipping on the lakes is not an independent operation. For the most part the boats are owned by iron ore and steel interests.

The chief Congressman promoter for the plan is Alvin F. Weichel (R), of Sandusky, Ohio, chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee. He has urged the shipping companies to file for the subsidy.

There has never been a peace-time subsidy for shipping on the lakes.

Josh Lawrence Great Lakes director of the National Maritime Union, declared that "the shipowners are enjoying the highest profits in history."

"These companies that are asking for federal funds are profiting in many ways. During the winter months they do not have to pay unemployment insurance benefits to seamen and, as a result, draw large rebates."

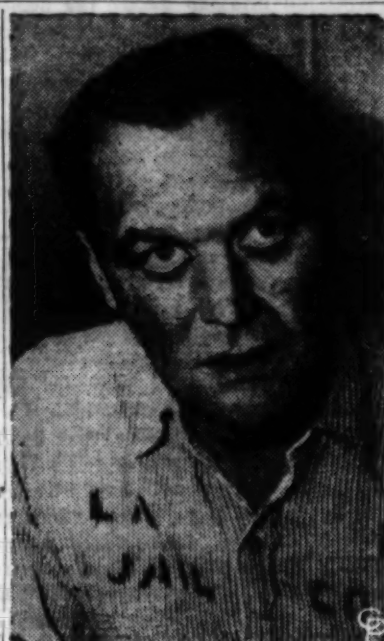

Ironically, among the shipowners are a number of very vocal defenders of the "private enterprise" system who shout in anguish about the government participating in business. When it comes to bolstering their profits however, they join in a plot for cash from the United States treasury.

The companies involved are: The Columbia Transportation Co., Cleveland; Cliffs Iron Co., Kinsman

Transit Co., Buckeye Steamship Co., Midlands Steamship Co., Reiss Steamship Co., Interlake Steamship Co., Wilson Transit Co., Pioneer Steamship Co., Great Lakes Steamship Co., all of Cleveland and the Mahoning Steamship Co. and Bethlehem Transportation Co. both of New York.

THERESA MILLARD, 18, is comforted by her sister, Mrs. Nina Thiem (right) in a Chicago police station after reporting an attack by a prowler believed to be the same man who murdered her mother. The girl and her mother, Mrs. Sophie Millard, 42, had been out together but parted before returning home. Mrs. Millard was found criminally attacked and with her throat cut.

FILM ACTOR Douglas Aylesworth in Los Angeles County Jail, awaits extradition to Colorado. Aylesworth is charged with participating in a $30,000 theft from a Denver department store. Police say that although Aylesworth has confessed to the crime, he has tried to renege on his confession. His most recent movie role was as a police commissioner's secretary.

Cleveland Paper Hits Mundt Bill

CLEVELAND, O., May 13.—The Cleveland Plain Dealer in a lengthy editorial expresses concern over the "approach" of the House Un-American Committee to enact repressive legislation against the Communist Party.

Speaking of the attempt to tie in the American Communist Party with a "foreign power," the editorial declared "this might be a difficult charge to prove in a fairly conducted court of law."

The Plain Dealer also raps the proposal of Harold E. Stassen, Republican Presidential candidate, to outlaw the Communist Party.

Cleveland's only morning newspaper also is concerned over the amendment to appropriation bills which would prohibit payment of federal funds to individuals whose union officials have not signed the Taft-Hartley affidavits.

The Plain Dealer wants anti-Communist legislation but proposes that the measures be drafted "without doing violence to the historic concepts of freedom of speech and assembly."

Spanish 'Socialists' to Meet In Mexico with Monarchists

LONDON, May 13 (Telepress).—A determined drive to build up a close front between the Spanish Monarchists and the so-called Socialists who follow Indalecio Prieto will open shortly in Mexico with American blessings, it was learned from Mexico City.

The Pretender Don Juan will go to Mexico shortly to make personal contact with the elements among the wealthy Spanish residents who have long been worked upon by both the Prieto and Monarchist agents there. Although the "caretaker government" designed to replace Franco without upsetting the regime has had private assurance that it will get the Marshall aid which is proved impossible to hand to Franco direct, immediate cash is needed for the preliminary persuasion of influential persons, especially in the U. S.

An interesting participant in these negotiations will be Leopold of Belgium, who has already arranged a long meeting with Don Juan at the latter's weekend residence at Vuernavaca, mountain resort near Mexico City.

A large number of high-ranking Spanish Army officers and aristocrats have gone to Mexico direct from Madrid without any objection from the Franco authorities.

Spanish Republicans in the United States and Latin America are alarmed at the failure of the exiles in London and Paris to make any impression either on public opinion there or on the governments concerned. They stress that their efforts to reverse Congress' initial inclusion of Franco in the Marshall Plan enabled progressive elements in Latin America to put some pressure on Marshall at the Bogota conference against the "lobbies" representing American imperialist interest.

WELCOMED BY WASHINGTON

Removal of the new Monarchist-Social Democrat intrigue to Prieto's operational center, Mexico, has been welcomed in Washington, where army of political agents is much larger in Mexico than it is in Paris, where the negotiations have hitherto taken place. It is also hoped that comparative secrecy may surround the Cuernavaca meetings, since most of the arrivals from Madrid are not known there by sight.

Mexican trade unions and progressive organizations are raising protests against the influx of Spanish aristocrats and army Nazi-collaborators. The Mexican government, although under steady pressure from U. S. banking interests, has refused official cognizance of the presence of Don Juan and has fought off attempts to force through commercial and, later, diplomatic relations between Mexico and Franco. Martin Araujo, Franco's Foreign Minister, sent his brother to Mexico to obtain trade recognition, but his efforts, despite lavish entertaining, failed.

Telephone Pact Talks Collapse

WASHINGTON, May 13 (UP).—Company and telephone union negotiations collapsed today. John Moran, president of the CIO Telephone Workers Union, said there "definitely will be a strike" unless the government intervenes.

Moran told newsmen the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has refused to bargain with the union for new contract terms for its 25,000 long lines members.

The contract for the long lines workers expired Saturday. The union was willing to continue it on a day-to-day basis until a new one was signed, but the company refused.

About 50 issues are in dispute, including union demands for a wage increase of 30 cents an hour.

Oppose Amendment on Women

The State Committee of the American Labor Party yesterday urged the House Judiciary Committee to "defeat the deceptively titled Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution because it is designed to weaken rather than strengthen women's rights under the law."

Wilhelmine Briscoe, Rockland County ALP chairman, and Sylvia Effel, Sullivan County ALP chairman, issued a statement to their representative in Congress, Mrs. Katherine St. George, in which they charged that "she is performing a signal disservice to the millions of American housewives and women workers in industry."

Thugs Kidnap, Flog Student Wallace Leader in Michigan

By William Allan

PONTIAC, Mich., May 13.—Thugs kidnapped Carl O'Brien, 18-year-old student last Sunday night, threw him into a car, drove outside city limits, flogged him with leather belts and sought to shave his hair off with a penknife because he circulated material for the local Wallace-for-President Committee.

Yesterday the City Council, upon the demand of aroused labor and progressive forces, posted a reward of $2,000 for information leading to the arrest of the hoodlums. Trade unions are now adding to the reward.

Trade unionists, led by CIO James Frazier, United Public Workers, CIO, also demanded that local police make the apprehension of the thugs the number one job. A city auditorium was requested for a mass protest rally.

O'Brien is one of the local leaders of the Student-for-Wallace Committee.

Allen Sayler, state chairman of the Progressive Party characterized the attack on O'Brien as typical of the Black Legion which made Pontac one of its main bases of operation back in the late thirties. "Because of this," said Sayler, who obviously done a professional job on this young student.

Police State In Cuba

THE POLICE STATE is entrenching itself in one Latin American country after another, and the latest outrage is Cuba. The newspapers—which are full of horror tales from Czechoslovakia or Yugoslavia—where the people have made short shrift of the old order—are nevertheless deaf and dumb and blind about the steady march of military dictatorships in our own hemisphere. Chile, then Brazil, then the overthrow of Costa Rica's government by force and violence, martial law in Colombia (to mention only a few cases), and now a drastic reactionary advance in Cuba—almost none of it publicized here.

Presidential elections are scheduled in Cuba, on June 2. Seventy members of the lower house consisting of 138 seats, are to be re-elected, plus 54 Senators. And I use the word "scheduled" because whether the elections actually take place is an open question. The campaign is proceeding in an atmosphere of fraud and violence and outright violations of the 1940 Constitution, which 5,000,000 Cubans won after a heroic decade of battling dictatorship. Of course, this is all going on under the impetus of the anti-Communist resolutions at Bogota, proposed and pressed by Secretary of State George C. Marshall in the name of our country.

FOR EXAMPLE, last Thursday night at 7 o'clock, the Cuban police and regular troops surrounded the building of radio station, "Mil Diez" (1010), and simply confiscated the edifice and all property, without warrant.

"Mil Diez" was the pride of the Cuban working class, and Cuba was the only country (except for a short time in Costa Rica) where a popular radio station existed.

Under the direction of that veteran labor leader, Joaquin Ordoqui, "Mil Diez" had become a major cultural and political force. You could not visit Havana without being invited to watch its performances. I remember one night a year ago, being privileged to hear the opening of a five-night stand by Miguelito Valdez, Cuba's outstanding singer. You could get everything on "Mil Diez"—from baseball to political lectures. It had been suspended on May Day eve for 10 days. Now it has been closed down by police decree, absolutely violating article 24 of the Constitution, which forbids arbitrary confiscation of property.

THIS VIOLENT attempt to silence the Popular Socialist Party comes after the complete failure of the May Day demonstration, organized by President Ramon Grau San Martin's stooges. In former years, hundreds of thousands of Cuban workers, led by their indomitable Confederation of Labor had filled the squares and paraded to the presidential palace. In the past year, Grau has installed stooge unions in the headquarters of the CTC, led by a darling of the American Federation of Labor, Angel Cofino. This year, the stooge outfit put on a weak parade, while the masses who support the CTC abstained. The password at the bogus parade was: "Take it easy, or we'll finish too soon." This fiasco evidently enraged Grau and led to the seizure of "Mil Diez." And Grau's candidate for the presidency, Prio Trujillo Socorras (representing the official Autentico party) has bluntly vowed to smash the Cuban Communists and their powerful trade union support.

THE POPULAR SOCIALIST candidates are the distinguished author, Juan Marinello (for President) and Lazaro Pena, the beloved secretary general of the Confederation of Labor (vice president). For many months, the PSP strove to form a coalition with the opposition to Grau, consisting of the Liberal and Democratic Parties, and the Orthodox Autenticos. In Cuba, Senatorial seats are distributed by the majority and minority coalitions, and such a unity would have assured the PSP at least the three Senators it now has.

But the bourgeois parties finally rejected the coalition. Now the PSP has a hard fight to retain its Senators and to hold its nine Deputies in the House. I hope to return in the next weeks to the issues in Cuba's election. But the way things are going—with fraudulent parades, threats of violence in the provinces and now the seizure of "Mil Diez" dictatorship may set in before June 2.

Fur Workers Learn What Mundt Bill Means

New York

Editor, Daily Worker:

Yesterday, two Furriers Joint Board organizers, representing 1,500 mouton lamb workers, met my boss to talk contract renewals. Today, 65 workers in his factory met at noon to talk about the vile Mundt-Nixon Bill, so eagerly sought by America's storm troopers in the 80th Congress. Both meetings were eye-openers.

The union-boss talk took less time than it takes the New York Giant's murderer's row to shell a quaking Brooklyn pitcher off the mound. The union leaders, already authorized by their membership to strike Monday unless the boss kicks in to our reasonable demands for a better contract, simply asked for a decision in hope of averting a strike action.

Mr. Boss, unwilling to grant any of the just demands on the unionist, called our organizers "Un-American; unpatriotic, and Communist!" Our leaders left abruptly to work on the details of the coming strike and the boss remained sitting in his office, deep in thought of the role he hopes to play in the Republican Party as a peanut union-buster.

The shop meeting, following on the heels of this attitude of our boss, gave teeth to the Mundt-Nixon Bill discussion. Careful attention was given the speaker in his effort to solidify the red-baiting and discriminatory clauses of the Mundt-Nixon disaster with the remarks of the boss against our union.

A delegate was elected to smoke out those Washington Gentlemen who feel since Taft-Hartley they have a pushover with Mundt and Nixon. Ninety dollars was collected for the Communist Party to help in the struggle against this Fascist order. Petitions were signed and telegrams sent to the proper agencies.

The full import of the viciousness of the Bill struck home to the men and women of the shop who are a cross section of those minority peoples who suffer most from such fascist legislation. All decisions arrived at democratically at the shop meeting speak well for the fighting spirit of the Italian, Jewish, Negro and Irish workers processing mouton lamb in this Bronx factory.

In closing, may I point out the lying term "unpatriotic" used by our boss against our union to red-bait us out of our chance to better our economic conditions caused much talk among the workers.

Our union leaders own many citations from government agencies for their unstinted patriotism in the last war. Many of our boys gave their lives on land, sea and air to halt the bloody world march of Hitler.

Our workers at home poured rivers of blood into Red Cross blood banks. Savings of fur workers were regularly called for and gladly given to the purchases of war bonds. Many of our shop workers temporarily left the trade to deliver the goods to our fighting allies in ships.

The record of our union's patriotism is too well known for us to sit quietly by when it is slandered. Our parent organization, the Joint Council, as you have so well publicized, have just won a real victory in their recent strike against the Fur Bosses' Assn. You know, the old saying, "like father, like son." We are out to win our union demands now—and go on from there to help build the Third Party, elect Wallace, and elect a progressive Congress.

Farmers Pitch In

Grand Junction, Mich.

Editor, Daily Worker:

We have a farm union local here. Our local is 100 percent for Wallace. The other night, at a bingo party, we raised about $36 to carry on our Progressive Party work.

The twin cities of St. Joe and Benton Harbor were behind in their Wallace petition signatures. A bunch of us farm people went there and started them off. One woman in our group got 220 names; another woman, a Negro, got 190 names.

Since the marriage of the elephant and the donkey, the two parties have been one, making the Wallace party the second. Some reactionaries, with the brains of a fossil, never change—just keep voting for Clare Hoffman. Other people are beginning to use their heads for something else than a hatrack. Many are afraid to stick their neck out, but say they will know how to mark their ballots for progress and peace.

Steel Union Waiting For Murray to Deliver

THE STEEL UNION'S convention floor at Mechanics Hall is a sea of 3,200 faces. Whatever you may think of the action by their majority, don't forget they are steel workers—90 percent from the mills.

Not many years ago they were unorganized. It took hard work and bitter battles to develop a union consciousness in them.

On the platform is the small group of top leaders. Some of them, old timers of the United Mine Workers machine like Murray and Van A. Bittner, manipulate the controls with skill. Up to quite recently it was comparatively easy, because the union progressed with the times.

The prestige of the leadership was largely built up on the wave of that progress. It's getting tougher to deliver now. And the leadership has turned from a fighting policy to one of depending on the hearts of the steel companies.

The workers received one big jolt in the recent negotiations. But Murray and his associates are still able to stand it. The confidence they command still enables them to do a job on a convention opposition. But they are preparing for more difficult days ahead. In the main they are taking measures to tighten administration control and relegate the rank and file to little more than dues-paying.

That's why they needed the red-baiting frenzy on the convention floor. Everything is adopted in the name of war on "Communism."

BUT BEHIND the stage play there is something more real. Why are the steel union's leaders so fearful of the slightest show of opposition? Why is it that when some delegate expresses an opposing view, administration big guns let loose all the oratory at their command lest someone even remember that a different view was expressed?

The leaders feel that for the first time they are being put to a real test before the members. They have gotten by in this convention by making the rosier promises to the delegates on what they will demand from the steel trust next year. They have drawn up a beautiful health and pension program.

Murray says militantly that U. S. Steel has a "moral obligation" to its employees to grant the pension. And in the same breath he described the corporation's injustice to its aged employees and says it has a "heart of stone." Similarly he speaks of the corporation "moral obligation" on wages.

THE GREAT MAJORITY of the delegates here actually have confidence in Murray's policy. They are looking forward to collecting next April. If Murray doesn't come through with a fighting policy to make good the program, a lot of people will be disappointed and angry.

Murray is also building up quite a Frankenstein monster with his political resolutions. The members will be anxiously studying the results next November. Murray is stepping rather hesitatingly himself. After his forces whipped up a campaign for draft-Eisenhower resolutions and some 200 were delivered, the line suddenly switched.

It is now left to top officers to decide after the two party conventions. Obviously Murray is not ready to burn all bridges with Truman.

Other signs that the people on the platform don't feel too secure is the wording of some of the resolutions. They only object to a Third Party "at this time," and say they may want one some day. They passed an excellent resolution on civil rights, and even opposed the Mundt bill. Their political resolution says they are an "independent force without commitment to any of the two major parties."

They don't find it so easy to "tame" the steel workers. A great many of the delegates here are just taking a pragmatic attitude. They may not like the red-baiting and the political resolutions but they are not so disturbed about them as to jeopardize their standing with the officialdom. The economic issues are primary with them, and on that score they still have a great deal of confidence in Murray.

But that confidence is worth just as much as Murray can deliver to his members.

The Jewish State Will Live

THE sun is rising on a new nation, a new state, in Palestine.

The Jewish people do not care for the investments of the Dillon Read banking firm of Wall Street, the firm of Secretary of Defense Forrestal, the man who haughtily tells American that defense of the private profits of his Wall Street colleagues is "national security."

The Jewish people do not fear the anti-Semitism of the fake "Socialist" Bevin, nor will they surrender to the Bevin-Churchill gangsters of the Arabian feudal chiefs, armed with British and American guns and led by British officers.

The new Jewish state will rise despite the Truman-Marshall planners who tried to stab it in the back in the UN—and are still trying after they had promised to support it.

The new Jewish state will rise, and it will be defended on the battlefield, no matter what the London "Socialists" or the Washington dollar imperialists prating "democracy" may do.

IT WAS the Soviet Union's delegate Gromyko who helped start the train of events in the UN which is being crowned today with the birth of the new state. Last May, Gromyko announced Soviet support of the demand of the Jewish people for the partition of Palestine.

Warren Austin, Washington's spokesman in the UN, could not but follow the same position. U. S. agreement with the Soviet position pleased decent men and women everywhere. It seemed to augur a new stage of American-Soviet cooperation, from which would follow a long-range peace settlement of other issues.

But, the Truman-Marshall planners never intended to fulfill their pledges. Austin had in his pocket the treacherous "trusteeship" proposition even while he was ostensibly supporting the new Jewish state. The bipartisan coalition in Washington betrayed its pledge on Palestine as it has been betraying our pledges to denazify Germany, the Potsdam and Yalta pledges to permit the peoples to march forward to peoples democracy wherever they wished.

Today, the Marshall Planners shake hands with Hitler's closest financial and military backers. Today, it is oil investments and bases for an anti-Soviet war which count in Washington, not peace and the aspirations of small nations.

BUT, history marches on—in Palestine, no less than in Greece, China, or Indonesia. In Palestine, it is the Haganah and its allies; in Greece, it is the heroic guerilla movement; in China it is the mighty and victorious Peoples Army led by the Communists.

In every case, the enemy is the same—the imperialism of London and Wall Street.

The country should demand, loud and strong, that Washington cease its intrigues against the Jewish state—cease the phony "trusteeships" and "High Commissioner" hoaxes—and grant it recognition without delay.

In any case, the desire for national independence cannot be crushed, either in Palestine, or Europe, or Asia, regardless of what the Marshall planners think.

New Yorkers will mass Saturday evening, 7 p. m., at the Polo Grounds, in a great Salute to the Jewish State. Your presence will help commemorate this historic occasion, and defy all intrigues against the new nation.

Nuernberg Document Cites
The Nazis' Mundt Bill

By Rob Hall

WASHINGTON

THE oft-stated objective of the House Un-American Committee of "driving the Communists" out of the government has achieved a horrifyingly broad support in this national capital. It has been an obsession with such men as John Rankin of Mississippi, Clare Hoffman of Michigan and Frank Keefe of Wisconsin, who have been spouting it with the regularity of a sperm whale for years. Since 1946 it has been advanced with virtually no opposition.

Thus an anti-Communist pledge has been written into applications for government employment for several years, and last year President Truman instituted his own loyalty purge. Now the Mundt-Nixon bill devotes a section to making it unlawful for a member of a "communist political association" to seek or hold a government job. An official who gives one a job is liable to a fine of $5,000 and imprisonment for two years.

Much of the opposition to Truman's purge has been based on the fact that not only Communists but liberals or New Dealers were being victimized by it. And this is of course true. But I know of one liberal columnist who has taken the position that it's quite all right to drive Communists out of the government, providing they really are Communists. Personally, I think it's time some one got up and defended the right of a government employee to any political opinion, including communism.

TO BAR A PERSON from a Government job because he or she is a Communist is fascism right out of Hitler's book. Before me is a booklet entitled Nazi Conspiracy and Aggression, published in 1947 by the U. S. Government Printing Office in Washington. It contains the "opinion and judgment" of the International Military Tribunal which convicted Goering, Hess and others at Nuernberg.

The judgment says, on page 8, the following:

"The government (after the seizure of power by Hitler) then proceeded to secure control of the Civil Service. This was achieved by a process of centralization, and by a careful sifting of the whole Civil Service administration. By a law of April 7 (1933) it was provided that officials 'who were of non-Aryan descent' should be retired; and it was also decreed that 'officials who because of their previous political activity do not offer security that they will exert themselves for the national state without reservation shall be discharged.' The law of April 11 provided for the discharge of 'all civil servants who belong to the Communist Party.'

The judgment further stated that "on July 14, 1933 (three months later), a law was passed declaring the NSDAP (Nazi Party) to be the only political party, and making it criminal to maintain or form any other political party."

THERE IS AN ORGANIC connection between the first move of "driving the Communists out of the government" and the second move of driving all but the ruling party from political life.

This was documented for us a couple of months ago by a speech on the House floor, delivered by that estimable gentleman from York, Pa., Rep. Chester Gross.

"Mr. Speaker," said Gross, "we all want to get rid of the Communists, in and out of the government." He noted that Truman asked $50,000,000 to do the job, but he maintained he had a plan to do it for free.

"The Civil Service Commission, in its regulations, should require as the first qualification of an applicant, or present officeholder, a certificate or statement from an election board official indicating that they are registered voters, registered with one of the two major parties," said Gross.

"Some one may ask: why registered with one of the two major parties? The answer is simple," said Gross. "It is essential in our system of government that we have two parties, but we do not need more than two parties. As for the 12,000,000 registered nonpartisan voters, they could present a sworn statement that their voting is within the two major parties. I believe this would get 98 percent of the Communists out of the government and keep them out."

THE PLAN OF GROSS has the virtue of all fascist plans—it is clear and simple. But it is a little too raw even for the hardened, callous ladies and gentlemen of the 80th Congress. They have other methods by which they hope to achieve the same end. One of them is the Mundt bill. Another is the legislative rider tactic being pushed by Rep. Keefe of Wisconsin.

The Keefe rider, which was approved by the House April 29, and is now before the Senate, provides a year in jail and $1,000 fine for a government worker who continues membership in a union the officers of which have not signed a non-Communist affidavit under the Taft-Hartley Act.

If the Mundt bill is given a resounding defeat, it will have the result of crimping a lot of this type of reactionary legislation.

HOFFMAN

By Elizabeth Gurley Flynn
CONGRESSMAN Mundt will strut his little hour this week like others before him whose name is now "Mud" in the annals of our country. Who remembers those who, as vaingloriously sponsored the Alien and Sedition Acts of 1798, the Fugitive Slave Law of 1850, or the Sedition and Deportations Acts of 1917 and '18? Just nobody — they are gone and forgotten. History records them with shame.

The last major attempt to kill the Bill of Rights was within the memory of many of us—at the end of World War I. Then it was Attorney General Palmer who aspired to ride into the Presidency on the wave of "red raids," but who couldn't be elected dog-catcher when the American people got through with him. There was Sen. Lusk of New York State whose committee published in 1920 three enormous volumes on "Subversive Radicalism" (with pictures) which now repose on dusty library shelves. His political career ended where it began. They are well documented and do come in handy for references, with constitutions, manifestoes, etc. of 30 years ago.

I often bless those fat volumes for quick access to such material. The only one remembered is Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, and only because he is still with us, doing the same kind of red-baiting. As was said of the Bourbons of France: "He has neither learned nor forgotten anything in all these years!" Not even how to pronounce Communist correctly.

THERE is a very timely and informative pamphlet just prepared by Labor Research Association and published by International Publishers (304). It is called The Palmer Raids. Material in the files of the late Joseph Brodsky, the greatest peoples' defender of our times, makes it invaluable. It shows the inception of the anti-red hysteria in the open-shop, company union drive of the employers, who used the blacklist, injunction, terror and violence, as they are attempting to do today.

The year 1919 saw great strikes of steel, coal, stockyards, clothing, textile, a general strike in Seattle, "and even a police strike in Boston." The same fear of "world revolution" afflicted Wall Street as a result of the overthrow of the Romanoff, Hohenzollern and Hapsburg dynasties and the rising tide of a people's movement in Europe.

This pamphlet shows the fake bomb plots that preceded the "deportation deliriums" and created the atmosphere for the Sacco-Vanzetti case. Actually over 500 non-citizens were torn from their families and deported, some to certain death. The mounting indignation of the American people finally put a stop to it. Not a single spy was ever convicted under the Sedition Act. "But 877 citizens were convicted under this law from June 30, 1917 to June 30, 1919, without one proved act of injury to the military services."

Among these were Eugene V. Debs, who went to jail; Socialist Congressman Victor Berger, who was excluded from his seat; the New York Socialist Assemblymen who had to fight for their seats; William D. Haywood of the IWW and others.

MEMBERS of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers and the ILGWU were among the thousands arrested and held for deportation. Labor leaders of today should well remember that Communists, Socialists, AFL and IWW were all together then in one prison pen, as Mundt plans for now. United action alone stopped the persecutions then. It alone can do the same thing today.

Among liberals who fought most gallantly at that time were Jane Adams; Assistant Secretary of Labor Louis F. Post; Arthur Garfield Hays and Francis Fisher Kane, U. S. District Attorney of Philadelphia who resigned in protest and today at over 80 years of age is again leading the fight against the Mundt Bill.

Federal Judge Anderson of Boston declared the raids illegal.

Sen. Walsh of Montana exposed them in the Senate. Felix Frankfurter, now a Supreme Court Judge, was one of the 12 eminent lawyers who signed the "Report Upon the Illegal Practices of the U. S. Department of Justice," as did Prof. Pound of Harvard; Prof. Chaffee and Alfred S. Niles of Baltimore.

Samuel Gompers, president of the AFL and the Chicago Federation of Labor, denounced the sedition law as anti-labor. A mass movement of tremendous dimensions finally collapsed the whole business like a balloon.

But it cost blood, tears, agony, suffering, separation of loved ones, and millions of dollars in bail and defense funds. Read this pamphlet and spread it to show the workers and people everywhere that we licked it before and we can do it again. Make Mundt's name "Mud."

MOB AT STEEL PARLEY SLUGS CRITICS

ship! No more two-year contracts. No more no-strike clauses. No more free hands for the company and bound hands for the union."

Migas, well known as a Communist, is one of the union's fighters since its earliest days.

VETOES POSTPONEMENT

When the resolution was called for action by the committee a half hour before adjournment time, a delegate asked postponement of the important issue until the next day. Murray expressed the opinion that more time was unnecessary and ordered it read. He called on Germano as the first speaker who released a barrage of abuse upon Migas for issuing the statement and called him a "slimy rat."

With administration stalwarts, hundreds of them full-time staff members, whooping it up mob-fashion and shouting "throw him out," Murray took over.

He asked Migas to step up on the floor to question him on sections of the leaflets. He referred to an item in the Daily Worker on the steel union which he said drew similar conclusions on the steel union's negotiations. Hence Migas didn't write the leaflet himself but "outsiders wrote it for him," shouted Murray.

His voice high-pitched and face very red, Murray fanned a red-baiting atmosphere as no labor leader ever did in my experience. He called the writer of the statement a "liar" and suggested that a convention rule forbidding slander was violated. As administration men shouted "throw him out" and "expel him" Murray assumed the role of a protector of civil rights and permitted Migas to speak why he "resorted to treachery."

ONLY WAY

Migas explained that he resorted to the statement because this was "the only way it could be done in this convention."

He said the union became a powerful organization because of its past militancy which is now being abandoned. He insisted that even now the union could press for its 25 cents an hour demand and strike if need be because the corporation, in Murray's own words, did not negotiate in good faith.

During Migas' speech, Germano and many of his supporters stood around him, and Murray on several occasions had to call upon them to take their seats and not resort to violence.

The atmosphere was anything but the kind in which a delegate could risk an expression of opposition to the administration.

With Migas still at the microphone, Murray ordered him to take his seat and proceeded to call for a vote. He declared the resolution endorsing the wage policy of the leadership "by unanimous vote."

MOB LEAVES HALL

A few moments later hundreds of delegates were making for the doors while Murray banged the gavel asking that they stay in their seats. He was unheeded, however, when this correspondent reached the scene across the street from the hall, Migas, very much roughed-up was being pushed by several policemen into a taxicab with hundreds of delegates pushing around them. He was later taken to a police station but was released soon after.

A motion by a delegate that Migas be expelled as a Communist was not entertained by Murray. He suggested that he simply be "reprimanded." Proposals to bar Communists from membership are due to be acted upon when the constitution committee reports.

This morning's frenzy came on the resolution on the Taft-Hartley law. The resolutions carried does not order compliance, but leaves it to the general executive board to take "any steps" in order to "preserve the strength and integrity of our union." This was a more favorable step than anti-administration supporters had expected. The general tenor of the resolution was a strong argument against compliance.

While board members Thomas Shane and Michael Robb spoke against compliance, several other delegates called for compliance and shouted that a test of the Taft-Hartley affidavit is the Communists' own affairs. Murray had himself argued yesterday that the union would test the affidavits and that attorneys advised him non-compliance was essential for a test.

STRESSES COMPLIANCE

This time Murray took the floor and, while still non-committal, stressed mainly reasons for complying.

In his hour-long talk he referred to difficulties of non-complying unions, raiding by the AFL and raiding by complying CIO unions against those non-complying. He boasted that the steel workers are clear of the charge of raiding and expressed himself against unions in the CIO that do raid. He avoided mention of Le United Automobile Workers as the raiding union.

Deploping lack of unity in labor's ranks to resist the Taft-Hartley law, he blamed it all on intrusion of "political matters" and soon developed those political matters to be "Communist interference" it was then that he swung out into a red-baiting tirade.

He charged that "Communists" broke the strike of mine workers in 1938-39 and said "they advocated the crossing of picket lines and the importing of scabs . . . and if they'll do it to follow the line of Moscow."

Murray referred to a 15-month strike scandalously misled by the UMW at the time, which was held up and continued thanks mainly to the relief machinery that left wing forces organized in the country.

Among the reasons Murray gave for compliance, was notice to him by the basic steel companies that they will not negotiate with him, if the union doesn't file Taft-Hartley affidavits.

Those for compliance felt satisfied with Murray's explanations and whooped it up strongly for leaving it to the board.

With all resolutions out of the way, the convention will take up constitutional amendments to bar Communists, raise dues, raise salaries of officers and extend the terms of officers to four years.

lution specifically discharges the five-nation commission, elected last November to carry out partition. Thus, the fiction that the United States still adheres to partition, and is only seeking some interim regime, has been abandoned.

As the political committee went into a night session, Poland submitted nine amendments and offered alternative proposals based on carrying out partition. Guatemala is also sponsoring a pro-partition resolution.

The betting is, however, that the U. S. plan can get a two thirds majority, especially since it is just a version of the British proposal for an interim authority, and represents the meeting point of British and American efforts to head off the Jewish state.

The Jewish Agency statement offered cooperation with any UN agency which wished to mediate, and also offered to cooperate in the international regime for Jerusalem, which was part of the original partition proposal.

But the Agency, using the phrase "Jewish state" in its declaration, rejected the American plan because its major premise is the "indefinite postponement of Jewish independence on the very eve of its attainment."

"Independence deferred is independence denied," said the Agency, adding that the U. S. resolution simply creates "New uncertainty about the political future of Palestine and is likely to increase disorder and conflict."

In the sub-committee which adopted the U. S. proposals, Poland and the Soviet Union abstained from most of the paragraphs where they did not formally oppose them. A series of Polish amendments were defeated by narrow votes.

Mental hospitals throughout the country are overcrowded by 16.3 percent of their capacity, the U. S. Public Health Service reports.

McDowell (R-Pa.) of the Un-American Committee, and Rep. Charles Halleck (R-Ind.) Majority Leader. The huddle broke up and Marcantonio with a broad smile waved a hand to the crowd in the galleries.

The wave meant the agreement to postpone had been reached.

Marcantonio said the agreement stipulated that the House would adjourn this evening immediately after action on the Hoffman bill. It would then convene tomorrow morning at 11 and proceed with action on the rule, including one-hour debate. Then the House would start five hours of general debate on the bill.

It was also agreed that the House would not meet Saturday, as some Republicans desired. Monday is Congressional Memorial Day.

HINT AT AMENDMENTS

Alarmed at the growing opposition, especially by the CIO, Un-American Committee leaders were reported considering amendments. Rep. Richard Nixon (R-Calif.) suggested an amendment which would exclude unions from the bill, but other committee members rejected the idea.

Rep. Jacob Javits (R-NY) told delegates from New York that he didn't like the bill "as it stands," but said he might vote for it if properly amended. Rep. James G. Fulton (R-Pa.) also told a Pittsburgh group he might accept an amended bill.

The New York CDA delegation included groups from 25 congressional districts. In most cases, they talked with their Congressmen. In a few cases, the Congressmen scurried away like scared rabbits.

Firm commitments to vote against the bill were obtained from Sol Bloom (D-NY), O'Toole (D-NY), John B. Delaney (D-NY), and Keough (D-NY). Bloom said the bill was "vicious" but declined to speak against it.

Some announced their intention to support the bill. These included Potts (R-NY), McMahon (R-NY), and Sundstrom (R-NJ).

But most of the Congressmen visited were undecided. These "on-the-fence" Congressmen, Goldsmith said, would be visited at their homes during the week-end.

Delegates came from New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Maryland and New Jersey. Also at the capitol was a delegation of 150 members of the National Maritime Union.

Four hundred delegates picketed the Republican and Democratic National Committees.

When police ordered the picketers parading at GOP quarters to stop shouting slogans, marchers took out handkerchiefs and demonstratively gagged themselves.

"We expect a week-end mobilization through unions, ALP clubs, PCA chapters, and community organizations," Goldsmith stated. "Similar meetings and mobilizations will take place in Illinois, Ohio, New Jersey and Pennsylvania."

"We are asking for thousands of telegrams to Speaker of the House Joseph Martin, Democratic leader John McCormack, and to individual Congressmen."

The delegation started its lobbying after a rousing meeting at the Shiloh Baptist church.

Committee, which has no Presidential candidate.

The task of selling the anti-Wallace position to the convention was assigned to Louis Hollander, manager of the union's New York joint board.

Hollander called Wallace "just a temporarily adopted stepchild of the Communist Party," who will be dropped by the Communists "like they dropped Earl Browder and Michael J. Quill."

AGAINST MUNDT BILL

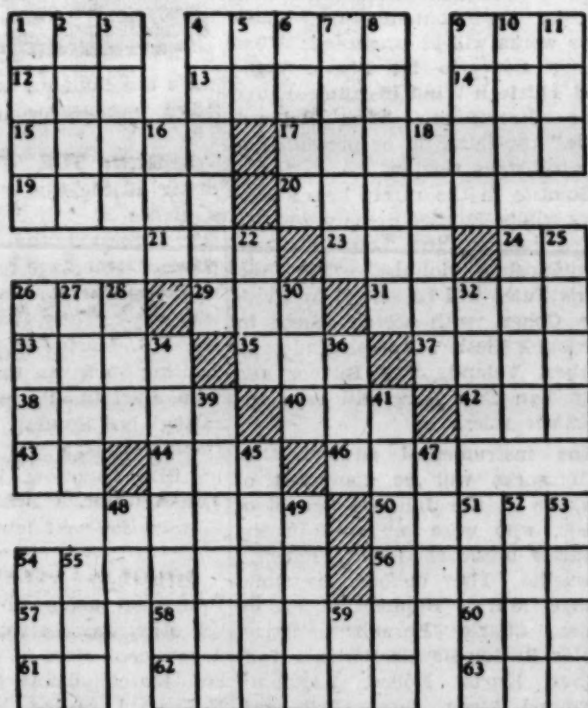

"This Third Party movement," said Hollander, "is not given to us by American labor—and I have nothing against the Communists. I condemn the Mundt bill."

Hollander added that he would "fight them (Communists) to keep them from hiding themselves, just as I fight the Rankins and Thomases from suppressing them."

'Marius' an Old Film But a Very Good One

By Herb Tank

FIFTEEN OR SIXTEEN YEARS AGO French film-maker Marcel Pagnol made a trilogy entitled Marius, Fanny, and Cesar. Although these films rank with the very best work produced by Pagnol (Harvest, The Baker's Wife) they have only recently been titled and shown in this country. The second of the series, and the first to be shown here, was Fanny. After receiving considerable critical acclaim Fanny had a healthy run at The Elysee. The other day Fanny was followed by the first of the films Marius. The people up at The Elysee can rest assured. Marius is due to receive the same critical acclaim and the same devoted audience.

Fanny, you may remember was the story of a young girl whose lover ran off to sea leaving her with the problem of finding a father for his child.

Since Fanny was the girl and Marius the boy the film Marius tells the story of how the problem was created in the first place.

IT IS A WARM STORY and a simple one. The setting is still the Marseilles waterfront where Marius' father Cesar, magnificently portrayed by the great French character actor Raimu, runs a little waterfront ginmill. Just as in Fanny this first film of the series is every bit as much concerned with Raimu and his old crony Charpin as with the two actors who carry the plot. Most interesting thing about this film is the way it stands up after some sixteen years. In sheer vitality, good story telling, adroit cutting, photography, and sensitive articulate performances it could give cards and spades to most of the current output. Its faults are a tendency to cuteness and superficiality marked by the film maker's attempts to force humor out of situations in such a way as to come into conflict with the reality of those situations.

Just the same, contemporary film-makers still have a lot to learn from this 16-year-old film.

'Strange Ports of Call' Book of 'Horror' Stories

AUGUST DERLETH, who selected the 20 "masterpieces of science fiction" included in Strange Ports of Call, is under no illusions as to the artistic or intellectual level of the general run of such tales.

He writes in his introduction, "It is a curious and lamentable fact that in most science fiction stories human beings are somewhat less than human beings; they are effigies of men and women, and there is no human warmth in them. The writer's interest is primarily in the 'gadget' or, in modern parlance, the 'gimmick,' and it is this which ensnares his whole interest at the expense of his characters. . . . It is because of this curious lack that there are so few really memorable stories in the genre of science fiction."

Now this is all too true. Moreover, a sticky mysticism pervades so many of the stories by those science fiction writers who do try to adjust to Mr. Derleth's complaint that the reader is usually willing to settle for a straight "gimmick" explanation of how Rocket Ship X-29 left for Venus in 1952 and got back to earth in 1262 A.D.

The largest single work in this anthology, At The Mountains of Madness, by H. P. Lovecraft, is a symbol of the difficulty which has dogged horror story writers ever since the days of Willkie Collins. Standard cliché of this school is to describe something by not describing it all. For example: "So unspeakably vile was this shrouded obscenity from a ghastly other-world that even today, 6,453 years later I dare not set down on paper the writhing horror I saw in the Valley of Evil." This, be it Collins or Lovecraft (or a jaded reviewer's), is thin stuff. —R.F.

Music

A SPECIAL CONCERT of contemporary chamber works under the direction of Dimitri Mitropoulos will be presented Friday (May 21) by the Juilliard School of Music in collaboration with the International Society for Contemporary Music. Two works will be presented: Alban Berg's Concerto for Piano, Violin and Thirteen Wind Instruments and Igor Stravinsky's The Soldier's Tale, the latter to be presented in the full stage version.

Soloists in the rarely heard Berg work will be Edward Steuermann, the noted pianist, and Louis Krasner, distinguished violinist. "The Soldier's Tale" will be staged by Frederic Cohen, with scenic design by Frederick Kiesler. Adolph Anderson, Herbert Volland, Jack Bitner and Atty Van Den Berg will take the dramatic roles.

The instrumental ensembles in both works will be composed of students at the Juilliard School of Music, who were prepared in the chamber music classes of Frederick Prausnitz. They include: Raymond Alonge, Murray Blumenthal, Isidore Cohen, Charles Ehrenberg, Byron Hester, Burton Hewitt, Richard Koff, Arthur Kurtz, Robert Landholt, Raymond Ajeda, James Pritchard, Jerome Roth, Stuart Sankey, Andre Speyer, Earl Thomas, and Cloyde Williams.

The concert will be primarily for members of the faculty and student body of the Juilliard School, and for members of the United States Section of the I. S. C. M. Admission, which is free of charge, is by invitation only.

ON SATURDAY, May 15, at 1 p.m., the Brooklyn Museum will present the second of the series "Music Student Contest." There will be five others to follow on Saturday at 1 p.m.

Hollywood:

'Iron Curtain' Over Breen Censor Office

By David Platt

THE BREEN OFFICE that passes on all Hollywood films approved the pro-war film The Iron Curtain without a single serious cut.

A few years ago, however, when the Lone Wolf Prowls came before it, the Breen Office order relating to this film read: "Cut all references unfavorable to fascism."

And when the screen-play Three Comrades, based on the Erich Remarque novel, was submitted to Breen, he suggested that the portrayal of the persecution of racial and religious minorities by the Nazis be played down and that the Storm Troopers be made "communists." When the producer, Joseph Mankiewicz refused, they agreed on a 'compromise.' All scenes of oppression against Jews, Catholics and others were to be eliminated. The Storm Troopers were to figure only incidentally.

The Iron Curtain, being a pro-fascist film, anything goes — the sky's the limit as far as the Breen office is concerned.

BEHIND THE 'CURTAIN': So many plainclothesmen are in the audience at the Roxy these days it's suggested that Ed Sullivan's Dawn Patrol stage revue be changed to Police Patrol. . . . Jimmie Fidler who was recently given a citation by the U.S. Marine Corps for his recruiting spiels on the air gave The Iron Curtain film four bells (top rating) last Sunday. . . . Four Continents Films, a New York distributing firm, announces it will premiere The Agitator, a British red-baiting film in the next few weeks. . . .

DOUGLAS AYLESWORTH, the Hollywood actor who was nabbed the other day for robbing a Denver department store of $30,000 in cash last March claims hard times in Hollywood caused him to do it. "Things were tough. I wasn't getting much movie work."

Now there's an original angle for a good crime story. As a matter of fact they're several novel angles in Aylesworth's real-life story worth filming. For one there's the way the crime was committed. Aylesworth simply posed as an armored car guard and picked up the store's deposit money from the cashier a few minutes ahead of the regular guard's pickup time. Secondly, there's the fact that Aylesworth's last movie role—a crime does not pay film—was in Republic's G-Men Don't Forget.

Twentieth Century Philosophy
Crashes Through On Radio

By Bob Lauter

MANY A TIME I have passed Carnegie Hall and seen posters advertising, "Norvell, the Twentieth Century Philosopher." If I remember rightly, his Carnegie Hall lectures are free, and I imagine he fills the hall with many Burton Holmes travelogue fans.

When I saw Norvell listed for the 8:45 PM spot on WINS, I settled back and prepared myself for a philosophic evening. It is difficult not to be curious about a man who bills himself flatly as the Twentieth Century philosopher, and who is introduced by one name, a la Hildegard or Annabelle.

The first thing I discovered when I tuned in is that Twentieth Century philosophy is now sponsored by Dexter and Company, a luggage manufacturer. I was happy to be present at this wedding of modern industry and thought.

Norvell began quietly and smoothly, in a voice which is cultured as all get-out, to put us straight on how to improve our relationship with the world. After a few sentences on tolerance, he introduced the thesis that our relations with other people determine success or failure, happiness or woe.

At this point, Dexter and company interrupted 20th century philosophy to sell a few suitcases.

Norvell, however, was not discouraged. He continued with his fine distillation of Dale Carnegie and Joshua Liebman. The highlight of his program came when he advised us to show friendship and loyalty. At this point, I was not sure whether this was Abe Burrows kidding Norvell, or just Norvell.

While it is true that Norvell said nothing the least bit offensive, it is also true that he said nothing. I left WINS and ran back to WHN for the Dodgers game before the 20th century philosopher had a chance to tell me about his free gift offer.

Taking a tip from the dating of automobile models, some enterprising sponsor ought to give us a 21st century philosopher.

CAPITOL CLOAK ROOM, the experimental CBS series in which Congressmen actively engaged in promoting key legislation are informally quizzed by a trio of CBS Washington newsmen on the capital scene, becomes a 30-minute regular network feature on Wednesday, May 26, 10:30-11 p.m. The CBS interviewers include Bill Shadel, Griffing Bancroft, Don Pryor, Eric Sevareid, Bob Lewis and Bill Henry.

ANOTHER CBS CHANGE will be the simultaneous presentation of We, the People, on both radio and television networks, beginning Tuesday, June 1 (9-9:30 p.m.).

Alan Weston and Gerald Gordon, two University of Florida students who took second prize in a national debating contest, recently appeared on We, the People. Weston and Gordon are on the executive committee of Florida's Progressive League, and ardent Wallace supporters. This will probably be a blow to Shell Oil Co. which paid their expenses north and sponsored their appearance on the program.

An Evening of Superficial One-Acters by Richard Harrity

LAST MONTH Richard Harrity's one act play, Hope Is The Thing With Feathers, was acknowledged the best written, acted and directed of a program of one-acters ANTA's Experimental Theatre was putting on at that time. Now Eddie Dowling is presenting an evening of three Harrity one-acters, including Hope, at the Playhouse.

As we've reported, Hope Is the Thing With Feathers is about a group of down-and-outers played by Will Geer, Lou Gilbert, George Mathews, E. G. Marshall and others with compelling skill. They're trying to sleep the night away on the benches of a local park. The excitement begins when one of them starts agitating the others—all as hungry as he—about his plans to Harrity is a facile writer and his situations and types are good material for hep actors and able director Joseph Kramm to work on for laughs, colorful characterizations and a bit of pathos.

But, dammit, no matter how many laughs hep theatre people can squeeze out of it, there is NOTHING FUNNY ABOUT HUNGER, there is NOTHING FUNNY ABOUT NOT BEING ABLE TO AFFORD A ROOF OVER ONE'S HEAD. A playwright dealing with the human wreckage of a merciless economic system needs a deeper, a more responsible approach to that wreckage and the cause of it—that is, if he is to attain stature.

Harrity has, it seems, some of the necessary technical ability. However, when one thinks of what a Gorky or an O'Casey was able to accomplish with similar material and that out of it Harrity is only able to achieve sentimentality—skillful as the achievement may be—then the lesson should be clear. Gorky and O'Casey achieved stature because they used their technical ability to write of the victims of an inhuman system, not merely as pathetic subjects for humorous and condescending treatment—but because they combined their craftsmanship with a passionate concern for, and an identity with, the interests of these victims.

THE OTHER TWO ITEMS on the evening's agenda are incon-sequential things entitled Gone Tomorrow and Home Life of A Buffalo.

Gone Tomorrow is about an Irish street-car conductor and his family waiting for the death of an aged tyrant of a relative. This relative has been an ardent devotee of Ireland's fight for independence and that's used for a few laughs. And, of course, an Irish working class family is just one big laugh. Cards, every one of them.

Eddie Dowling and his wife, Ray Dooley, are talented and accomplished and they knocked themselves out trying to please the customers in Home Life of A Buffalo—but they shouldn't have bothered. This one is about an incredible ham vaudeville actor who firmly believes that Jack Benny, Fred Allen, etc., are fifth columnists to the sacred cause of vaudeville because they have sold out to radio. Eroke, he throws his best friends out of the house along with the food they brought because they too have left vaudeville—in order to eat. He is faced, once and for all, with the realization that he has to get out of vaudeville to support his family. When his family is asleep he throws open the gas jets so that they as well as he can die quietly—there's no use living without vaudeville. The gas is pouring out—but just then he gets a new idea for his "act." In a flash the gas is turned off, the family is awakened and the curtain falls as they're all hamming away on the new "act."

The Dowling's put out with a lot of charm and skill—but what they had to work with should happen to Frank Fay.

It Wasn't May Flowers!

THERE WERE 63,000 people in the house and $90,000 in the till Wednesday night at the Yankee-Cleveland affair when the dew began descending with unbecoming precipitousness. Had it been a daylight game with a thin midweek crowd it would never have started. Remember those sunshiny postponements of 2:30 p. m. games because of noon sprinkles?

They tried. If four and a half innings were squeezed in between the cloudbursts it was an official "game," the dough stuck and the raincheck was just a little hunk of cardboard to give to the kids. At 11:50 p. m., after three innings, three and a half hours and three thousand cubic feet of moisture, the umps signalled an end to the biggest public bath since the days of Cleopatra. The Yankee front office lost a big house and the Cleveland organization drew a blank for pulling its biggest road crowd.

Chief gainers were the fans who saw one of Joe DiMaggio's super back to the plate specials rob Boudreau of a triple (remember the prematurely nostalgic baseball obits written on Joe when he went into the Army?) and one of the same peerless performer's home runs. They can use their rain checks for another game—if, of course, they avoided pneumonia.

Free Admission Might've Helped

A SOMEWHAT SMALLER crowd, 3,000 to be reasonably precise, rattled around in Madison Square Garden the same night to see the big return match between Jack Kramer and Bobby Riggs. When the same two crossed racquets there for the first time last winter the customers turned out en masse on the night of the biggest blizzards.

And just by the way. Weren't one or two scribes who were a little quick and loose with the accusation of "wrestling match." Would it be a gate-killing 59-19 if it were "you win one—I win one" arrangement?

The Old Hidden Ball Trick

SEE WHERE PEEWEE REESE pulled the hidden ball trick on Johnny Vandermeer in Cincy. A pitcher generally makes the most susceptible victim to this hoary old ruse, tending toward elated confusion in the unaccustomed role of base runner.

Frank Crosetti was the modern master at concealing the ball and tagging the startled runner as he took a lead off second. He received his most enthusiastic co-operation from pitcher Lefty Gomez, who enjoyed the histrionics of winding up with an empty glove. One game Lefty was pitching, Crosetti picked off an enemy runner and the southpaw stood on the mound laughing so hard he could hardly pitch. The batter, a weakling, rapped him for a screaming triple but when the dust settled Lefty was still shaking.

Along the same lines, Barney McCoskey of the A's isn't on speaking terms with shortstop Christman of the Senators. During a game in Washington, McCoskey, on first, legged it to second when a mate blasted a liner down the right field line. Uncertain whether it was fair or foul, he made the mistake of asking Christman, "Foul," said Mark and McCoskey started back to first. Christman nonchalantly took the throw in and gently but firmly placed the ball between the startled Mr. McCoskey's shoulder blades.

THE G. I. BILL OF RIGHTS will rate a big assist if Cleveland happens to win the A. L. pennant. It's like this. Bob Lemon, rookie infielder of '43 back from the war in the spring of '46, returned to the Indians and looked more like a soccer player than a baseball player at third base.

Manager Lou Boudreau, afraid he might be killed or maimed at the hot corner, even in practice, suggested he try the outfield, but Lemon showed no marked improvement despite a powerful arm. Ordinarily he would have been dispatched to the bushes pronto, but, as the smiling young man related it the other day, "They had to keep me all year because of the G. I. bill. Instead of hanging around doing nothing I tried pitching."

Quite a pitcher, too.

Hughson is Thirty-one

ADD "WHERE DO they come off holding out for more dough when they only have to play ball a few hours a day?" . . . Tex Hughson, aged 31, won 20, lost 11 for Boston two years ago, shipped off to Austin in a Class B League with a bad arm. Maybe the hot Texas sun will bake it out, Cronin figures. It didn't help 27 year old Paul Dean or many others. Two operations for pitching-incurred bone chips have been unsuccessful. Hughson faces the loss of his profession after five years at it. Just one of the things to figure in when you whistle at big leaguer's salary for just playing ball.

NATIONAL LEAGUE standing—Cincinnati, won 7 lost 16. Say, you think Eddie Miller really knew something?

Uh, oh. Don't tell Mel Ott. Another shutout for Bill Voiselle. That was quite a trade, Voiselle for Mort Cooper, wasn't it?

Chess Chatter...

With Mikhail Botvinnik having won the world chess championship, interest in the world tourney, now in its final stages at the Hall of Columns in Moscow, centers about the battle for second place between Vasily Smyslov (U.S.S.R.), Samuel Reshevsky (U.S.A.), and Paul Keres (U.S.S.R.).

Smyslov now occupies second place, but both Reshevsky and Keres are hot on his heels.

The standing:

	W.	L.
Botvinnik	13	5
Smyslov	10	8
Reshevsky	9½	9½
Keres	9½	9½
Buwe	4	14

Smyslov and Keres drew their adjourned twenty-second round game in 49 moves. Botvinnik and Smyslov drew their twenty-third round game in 17 moves. Reshevsky and Keres drew their twenty-third round game in 36 moves.

For those that haven't seen it, here is the Botvinnik game, against Keres, in the tenth round at The Hague. Botvinnik sacks a rook to spin a mating net. . . .

Yanks to Throw Shea at Athletics' 10-Game Streak

"Rain" having had a stay almost as long as the play of the same name, the Yankees are hoping the weather man will finally give them a break this afternoon and allow them to inaugurate the three game Stadium series with the amazing Athletics.

Only one of the scheduled trio with the Tribe went into the record books, that having been the victorious opener, with Wednesday's night-game finally being called after three and a half innings and yesterday's meeting with Rapid Bob Feller not getting even that much of a chance as the water fell without stop throughout the city.

Spec Shea, with two good games under his belt and again emulating his old efficient self, is due to go against Connie Mack's league leaders who now boast a 10-straight winning streak and length-and-one-half margin over the Indians and Bronxites. Raschi is sure to start one of tomorrow's twinbill, with either Reynolds or Lopat getting the call in the nitecap. Lopat was working for New York on the rainy Wednesday night, and although three and one-half innings hardly constitutes a workout for the lefthander, he was being hit harder than rival Gene Beardon and perhaps Bucky Harris may decide to go with Reynolds in the doubleheader. Allie was pretty close to perfect against the Indians on Tuesday.

Yankee Stadium has usually proven the burial grounds for any of the red-hot surprise teams of the past—and it could be that history will repeat itself in this series. The Mackmen haven't tasted defeat in a long time and are the one big topic of conversation throughout the loop. The pitching has lived up to all expectations, with Eklund, Fowler, Scheib and Marchildon pacing. But the hitting has exceeded all logical expectations. Nobody considered the A's much in the base knocking department, but here it is, such anemic pokers as Majeski, Joost and Suder rapping out the hits in consistently heroic fashion, with the few legitimately good hitters like McCoskey, Vano and Fain almost playing a secondary role in the phenomenal Philly streak.

Joost, for example, comes into the Stadium with a consecutive hitting skein of 17 games, already a record for the early season. Shea, probably the best spoiler in the business when he's right, is right again, and it'll be interesting to see whether he can spoil Joost's streak, the A's victory march, either, or both.

Probability is Charlie Keller will be back in left field again this afternoon, with yesterday's washout giving the sprained leg muscle an additional day of rest. He wasn't in the lineup for Wednesday night's abortive affair. . . . Joe DiMaggio felt pretty glum about the rain having also washed his fifth home-run and three more rbi's right out of the record books that some night. The Joltie needs every hit as can lay his bat on to get his average back into respectable figures again. "Haven't been able to get my two hits a day yet," said DiMag. But Joe has always treated Philly pitchers like cousins, and that should put yet another strain on the A's streak.

GIANTS BLANK CARDS, TAKE N. L. LEAD; DODGERS WIN 9-3

Poat's 2-Hitter Beats 'Birds 5-0

ST. LOUIS, May 13 (UP).—Ray Poat hurled brilliant two-hit ball today as he and his New York Giant teammates blanked the St. Louis Cardinals, 5 to 0, and grabbed the lead in the hot National League pennant race.

Poat, who gained his third victory against one defeat for the season, gave up a single to Enos Slaughter in the second inning and a pop-fly double to Red Schoendienst in the third.

Not one Cardinal runner got as far as third base. Terry Moore, who walked twice; George Kurowski, who drew a base on balls, and Ron Northey, who was hit by a pitched ball, were the only other Red-birds to reach first base safely.

Red Munger, charged with his first loss of the season, pitched shut-out ball until the sixth when the Giants loaded the sacks and sent two runners home when Schoendienst made successive boots on balls hit by Johnny Mize and Willard Marshall. The Giants picked up another marker in the 8th and added two more in the 9th.

The Giants collected 11 hits off Munger, Ted Wilks, Ken Johnson and Gerald Staley. Whitey Lockman and Willard Marshall had three apiece.

THREE 10s ON TAP TONITE

The Garden reopens its doors to boxing tonight with a card of three 10-round attractions. Paired in the top tens are California's touted lightweight newcomer, Jesse Flores, versus Johnny Williams, the bustling lightweight who scored a disputed decision over Freddie Dawson in his last Garden start.

Sid Peaks, young heavyweight punching prospect, tangles with elongated Johnny Skhor in the second ten, while middleweights Gene Boland and Tony Riccio meet in the other. Peaks' most notable knockout triumph came over Lee Q. Murray, whom he decked in three.

Cubans Face Chief NNL Foe

For scouts with eyes, there will be big league prospects showing their stuff as the Newark Eagles, rated the foremost threat to the Negro League championship of the New York Cubans, tangle with the title-holders this Sunday in a Polo Grounds doubleheader. The Eagles have won 2 and lost 1, while the Cubans have knocked off four straight.

The foremost pitchers of the Cuban Winter League will hook up again as Rufus Lewis and Max Manning of the Eagles face the Cubans' Dave Barnhill and Pat Scantlebury, one of the newer Negro hurling stars, has two great wins to his credit already. He beat the Homestead Grays 7-1, yielding a run in the first, and then shut out the Philly Stars 1-0 in 10 innings, so he goes into Sunday's game with 18 goose eggs behind him.

The Eagles, who gave Larry Doby to the big leagues, have another hot young slugger wearing his number and playing right field. He is Curly Williams, a rookie from Orangeburg, S. C.

Voiselle Racks Up 4th

CHICAGO, May 13 (UP).—Bill Voiselle racked up his fourth straight triumph for the Braves here today when he shut out the Cubs, 2 to 0, outdueling Johnny Schmitz.

Voiselle and Schmitz each yielded only four hits, but the Braves' Alvin Dark and Bob Elliott, each of whom collected two hits, paired

Roe Goes Route, Furillo, Lund HR

CINCINNATI, May 13 (UP).—Four wild throws in the third and fourth innings helped the Brooklyn Dodgers to four unearned runs as they beat the Cincinnati Reds, 9-3, today to run Cincinnati's losing streak to seven straight games.

Ken Raffensberger, the losing pitcher, helped beat himself with two wild throws.

Carl Furillo homered for the game's first run. Following an opening single by Furillo in the fourth and two wild throws, Don

Jackie Robinson Carl Furillo

Lund hit a three-run homer. Dewey Williams homered for Cincinnati's last two runs in the three-run fifth, the only inning Preacher Roe was in any real trouble.

Jackie Robinson, who got three more hits today, ran into Benny Zientara as the latter covered first base in the third and knocked Zientara out, causing his departure from the game with an injured neck. Robinson also went sprawling when he struck Zientara but soon was revived and finished the game.

singles in the third for one tally. In the eighth Jim Russell drew his fourth straight walk, raced to third on a wild pitch and scored on Elliott's infield out.

The defeat was the fourth for the luckless Schmitz against only one victory.

Sande Exonerated By Grand Jury

The Federal Grand Jury in Brooklyn yesterday failed to indict horse trainer Earle Sande on charges of illegal possession of narcotics.

Sande was released on charges that he had violated the Federal Narcotics Laws when the Federal Grand Jury returned no true bill of indictment.

Sande, formerly one of racing's outstanding jockeys who now owns and trains his own stable of horses, was suspended for 60 days on May 4 by the Jockeys Club for allegedly stimulating one of his horses, Big Stage, in a race at Jamaica, April 21.

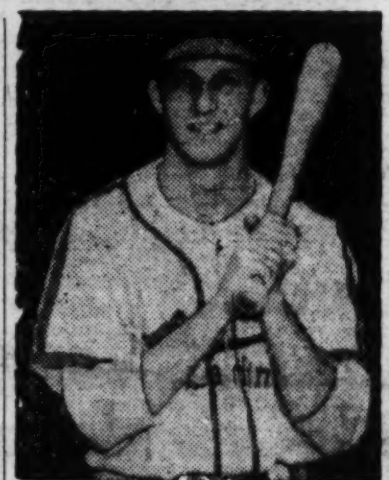

Musial Comeback Complete

ST. LOUIS, May 13 (UP).—The fortunes of Stan Musial and the St. Louis Cardinals are linked as closely as those of the Smith Brothers.

There was no mystery about his comeback to the 27-year-old Donora, Pa., slugger. "I'm okay physically after a couple of operations and I've got back the 10 or 15 pounds I was underweight last year," he explained. "I'm meeting the ball with my full strength and, after all, I'm not hitting way over my head. I have a .342 average for five years with the Cards."

Musial said his lack of weight last year led to an unconsciously "lazy" swing. Fans and sports writers commented at the time on the number of high flies the Donora Dynamiter lifted to left. A southpaw swinger, Musial normally pulled the ball to rightfield.

"Changing back to the outfield has helped me too," Musial went on. "Playing first base keeps a man on edge and in my case, at least, it didn't help at the plate. Back in the outfield, I have fewer chances and seem to be able to concentrate more on my hitting."

Stan has apparently mastered the act of hitting to all fields this season. When he broke up a Boston game the other night by belting a Warren Spahn pitch for a line single to left-center, the pressboxers questioned him about the hit.

"Used to be I'd try to come around on the ball no matter how far outside it was," Musial said, "and I was popping up a lot of times on far center pitches. Now I just hit the ball where it's thrown unless we need a long one to even things up. Then I try to pull it for distance."

Musial, voted the "most valuable" award in the National League in 1943 and 1946, is off to a good start in the race for the honor again. He has averaged nearly one run batted in per game with 15 and has scored 11, going into yesterday's game with a .369 batting average. Nearly half his hits have been for extra mileage with four doubles, four triples, and three home runs.

Manager Eddie Dyer summed up the opinions of team-mates on Musial, a quiet, unassuming fellow who can still wear the hat he used in the minors.

"He's a ballplayers' ballplayer," he said, "and the most dangerous hitter in the league."

Barnard Rubin's column Broadway Beat appears in the weekend Worker instead of on Friday.
